Section 1: Introduction:

1.1: EUROCOORD PROJECT

EUROCOORD main objective was to promote judicial cooperation by developing systematic research and generating specific knowledge and tools addressed to the different stakeholders to contribute to the efficient and coherent application of the Directive 2014/41/EU on the European Investigation Order (EIO) in criminal matters and other relevant regulations.

Namely, the specific objectives of the project were:

- a) to generate the required knowledge to optimise the implementation of the EIO in criminal matters, specifically, the transmission of evidence and its admissibility;
- b) to provide relevant stakeholders with the competencies and protocols needed in order to make easier the cooperation and admissibility of evidence across different countries and
- c) to raise awareness, disseminate the knowledge generated and train professionals with a multiplying potential.

In order to reach the mentioned objective, the activities proposed are:

- a) desk and qualitative research on the EOI judicial framework;
- b) development of a Code of Best Practices,
- c) training, courses and seminars addressed to different target groups and
- d) launch of the European Observatory on EOI and beyond on criminal matters.

The final beneficiaries will be more than 300 researches in the field of Criminal Law.

The main expected results of the project will be:

- a) Research reports on national and cross-border criminal proceedings;
- b) Code of Best Practices for the EIO in criminal matters;
- c) Open debate for assessment and implementation of the EIO and beyond through the European Observatory;
- d) Syllabus, training resources and training seminars addressed to target groups;
- e) Websites

More detailed objects were to:

1. to scrutinize the idea and means of implementation of EIO
2. to support the emergence of an open and vibrant knowledge & collaborative community of experts and stakeholders, including all EU citizens as target group
3. to manage the internal social-network side of the European Observatory of the EOI
4. to be in charge of the information-point during the whole project
5. to provide support for the use of the networks, online and offline communication tools used during the project
6. to contribute to the spread and the establishment of more homogenous procedures on EOI, to be carried on through high-level dissemination actions, focused on scientific communication

Planned strategy was:

1. to support the emergence of an open and vibrant knowledge & collaborative community of experts and stakeholders, including all EU citizens as target group;
2. to manage the internal social-network side of the European Observatory of the EOI;
3. to be in charge of the information-point during the whole project;
4. to provide support for the use of the networks, online and offline communication tools used during the project;
5. to contribute to the spread and the establishment of more homogenous procedures on EOI, to be carried on through high-level dissemination actions, focused on scientific communication;
